The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Applicants' arguments relating to the rejection of the claims over Smits in view of Kenzo is persuasive. Accordingly this rejection has been withdrawn.

Claims 1 and 2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Underwood (4,994,797) in view of Smits (4,359,481).

Underwood discloses creating aqueous wood smoke by heating the wood in an oxygen starved atmosphere (abstract). Then the desired smoking materials are water soluble and extracted with water. This is said to remove the undesirable tar for the composition because it is not soluble in water (column 9, lines 10-15). The tar would be expected to be separated from the water soluble material during the heating process because of the difference in solubility of the resulting smoking materials. Fish is included as a food source (column 1, line 9). The food (wieners) is smoked by adding water and smoking materials together with the food and cooking it. The claims appear to differ from Underwood in the recitation of the inclusion of an antioxidant in the smoking composition. Smits teaches that is well known in the art to include antioxidants in liquid smoke concentrated to increase its storage stability (column 3, lines 22-30). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to treat the smoking concentrate of Underwood with the antioxidants of Smits to enhance the storage stability of the smoking composition.

Claims 3-6 and 8-17 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
